Romance Started By Radio; Ends in Marriage Ceremony

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 3.—Radio love is the latest development in wireless telephony.

It all began when Miss Dorothy E. Smithson of Gainesville, Texas, became enamored of the voice of Frank Bird of Oklahoma City, as it came to her through scores of miles of ether. Through the microphone of a radio receiving set, Miss Smithson first heard the voice of her future husband seven days ago.

Bird, as director of an orchestra which has been giving radio concerts here, announced the name of this selection. In Gainesville Miss Smithson

"I don't know why, she confessed idly, "but right away I fell in love with that voice."

Came a letter to this city.

There was an answer. An exchange of less than half an dozen missives and Miss Smithson came to Oklahoma City.

A minister sealed the radio romance.

ANXIETY CAUSED IN CHINA BECAUSE OF SUN'S SILENCE

Rumors From Canton Say That Reconcilia- tion Is Effectuated

PEKING, June 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Continued silence on the part of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the Canton or southern government in China, toward the rapid fire changes of the last few days is evoking anxiety.

The aim for which Dr. Sun has announced repeatedly that he was fighting is an accomplished fact, the last vestige of unconnected governments in Peking having passed away, and it is now a world 180 degrees removed by the signing of the resignation of President Hu Shih Chang announcing its own entire lack of legal authority and its reorganization merely as a committee of citizens to carry on the government until a successor to Hu should be in office. While Dr. Sun maintains his demands quiet, as he assumed when demands first were made some days ago that he resign.

Meanwhile, there are rumors from Canton that a reconciliation between Dr. Sun and Chen Ching Ming, his former adherent who withdrew his support several days ago, has been effected. Chen's demands yesterday were reported to be between Dr. Sun and his ex-advisor, Canton, yet Canton advises last night reported the arrival of the southern president at his seat of government.

On the other hand Chihli troops controlled by one of the provincial military dictators whom Chen united into a confederation in support of General Wu Pei-Fu, are preparing themselves to aid in the leader's efforts to subdue General Chang Tso-Lin.

General Wu Pei-Fu who recently chased Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord, from the state of Peking politics, today declared that if Sun Yat Sen, president of the republic of South China, presents in his plan for the unification of China, he too must be eliminated by the sword if necessary.

Mexico Discredits
Reports of Revolt
By Felix Diaz

MEXICO CITY, June 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Stories of plans for a revolution in Mexico with General Felix Diaz as the leader are discredited in official circles and by the newspapers.

If Diaz is in Mexico, as implied in dispatches from New Orleans last night, his presence has not been reported to the war office, and it is thought he still is in the United States, as also is the case with New York.

The Oregon government has no apparent fear of an insurrection headed by Diaz, and treats his rumored activities as mere propaganda started in the United States by enemies of the administration.

There have been no reports here of undue activity in the Laredo district, although dispatches in the last few days have told of some disturbances in various sections of Tamaulipas and Coahuila.

EXPEDITION TO "WORLD'S ROOF" WILL BE ONE OF MOST SCIENTIFIC IN HISTORY

SEATTLE, Wash., June 3.—(By the Associated Press)—When Captain Roald Amundsen's expedition ship Maule sails from Elliott Bay tomorrow for her long voyage through the Arctic Ocean, into the uncharted north polar basin, one of the most complete and extensive scientific expeditions ever undertaken in that region will get under way.

The expedition is a resumption of an effort begun by Captain Amundsen in 1911 under the auspices of the Norwegian government, but the north pole was not reached by him, and to secure data which the explorer expects may revolutionize present day meteorological and oceanographical knowledge in the northern hemisphere.

The first effort met with delay in 1912 when the Maule had a propeller failure off the north western Siberian coast and was forced to put into Seattle for repairs. Recently the vessel has undergone complete overhauling and additional equipment, including two air planes, a long range wireless station, and many precise scientific instruments has been added to the equipment.

The expedition, Captain Amundsen has repeatedly declared, is now ready to start, and it is expected while he goes to reach the north pole in 1913—the study of ocean and magnetic currents, the drift of the ice pack and movements of the sea will be his first objective.

Special investigation will be made to determine whether the Maule has enough coal to make the long journey across the Arctic Ocean.

During the expedition the ship will make an intensive exploration of the huge area of almost a million square miles covering the "roof of the world."

The large plane will be used for the more extensive investigations while the smaller plane will be used in the immediate vicinity of the vessel.

72 means of the wireless equipment Captain Amundsen expects to keep in touch with the world and perhaps to flash the message that, following. Today, he has reached the north pole. Four times daily he will send wireless messages to Seattle containing meteorological data, expected to aid immensely in forecasting weather conditions throughout the globe.

The most prevalent report was that about seventy-five negroes, heavily armed, were harbored in a large farm house. Investigation failed to disclose them. Thousands of men from nearby towns started for Kivin.

The community of Kivin, where a 17-year-old girl was attacked and murdered a few weeks ago. Three negroes were burned to death and one hanged for alleged connection with the case. It is said that Leroy Gibson was sought to explain some things in the same case.

Feeling has been high since the lynching and many rumors that the negroes intended to retain slaves have been heard. One cause of the rumors of riots last night was said to be "some wrought nerves."

Petition to Restraining International Union Is Withdrawn

CHICAGO, June 3.—(By the Associated Press)—The court fight against Mathilde McCormick's marriage to Max Oser, Swiss horseman, ended abruptly in less than two minutes proceedings in probate court today, when Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, the girl's mother, withdrew her petition for a restraining order to prevent the union.

As the time approached for the hearing on the petition which Mathilde's divorced mother, Edith Rockefeller McCormick, was given leave to file asking an injunction restraining her former husband, Harold F. McCormick from granting consent to the international marriage, Mrs. McCormick announced that the application had been withdrawn.

Society awaited the next development in Mathilde's romance. Her father, who is now her legal guardian, had agreed to withhold consent to the marriage until today at least.

With announcement of the withdrawal of Mrs. McCormick's petition came the suggestion from friends that the whole court action had been resorted to as a means of keeping Mathilde in America as long as possible in the hope that she might voluntarily change her mind about marrying the Swiss riding master.

Mrs. McCormick in her objections to the international union is said to be strongly supported by her son-in-law.

Mathilde's father, who is a member of the International Harvester company, was referred to by attorneys as "an indulgent father, who has been accustomed to give his children what they desire." He has persistently refused to discuss Mathilde's proposed marriage but friends intimated that under the surface he and his former wife were not greatly at discord over Max.

It was stated after the second meeting of the cabinet that the outcome would be better. This is not the case. Improvement in the situation does not lie with anything the ministers can do; it depends upon the willingness of the Irish delegates to submit a new draft of the constitution. Unless amendments are made to this the treaty will not be ratified.

It was plain that Griffith and Collins had the best and only possible move lies with them. There is hope that they will accept the situation and produce acceptable proposals but if they do not the British government will not ask for ratification or a treaty by the imperial parliament.

Adding to the military possibility of the situation, the Morning Post of Dublin corresponds says the 15,000 British troops in Dublin will parade today on the occasion of the King's birthday their bands playing the national anthem.

Answers of Griffith to Cabinet Said to Be Satisfactory

LONDON, June 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Rupture of the Irish negotiations again has been averted, but there is little disposition here to take an optimistic view of the situation.

The answers of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, to six questions put to him by the British cabinet, the nature of which was not given out, were declared "satisfactory" following which Mr. Griffith left last night for Dublin and Prime Minister Lloyd George for his Whitinsdale at Crickhowell, Wales.

The gloomy feeling here was increased by Mr. Griffith's statement before his departure that the position appeared the same as it was in December.

The question of the influence of Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader, crops out in many discussions, and it is generally agreed here will have to be some modifications in his part with Michael Collins before the civil rights regarding the new Irish constitution can in any way be harmonized.

One extreme opinion is that Collins is entirely in de Valera's hands as a result of their agreement and cannot escape even if he wishes it.

The Westminster Gazette whose liberal views and good will toward Ireland are well known gives conspicuous publicity to a special article which says

RACE RIOTS IN TEXAS FAIL TO DEVELOP

Reports of Disturbance Start After Shooting of Negro

KIRKIN, Tex., June 3.—(By the Associated Press)—No serious consequences, which fact might have been reported near here had failed to materialize early today. Armed men guarded Kirkin and a house occupied by negroes near Sherman about five miles from here, but according to police officers little further trouble was expected. Deputy sheriffs and policemen from Mexia who hurried here when the reports first went out returned to their homes last night and Franklin county officials informed others that the situation had not changed.

The reports of a plot colluded attempts to arrest Leroy Gibson, a negro, who is said to have tried to escape and was shot and captured. As the officers started away shots were fired at them and they returned the fire. All Gibson, a brother of the prisoner, was killed. None of the officers was injured.

The most prevalent report was that about seventy-five negroes, heavily armed, were harbored in a large farm house. Investigation failed to disclose them. Thousands of men from nearby towns started for Kirkin.

Witnesses said that the wife grew out of the news of the criticism of the mayor's administration, his war record and personal life.

On the stand the mayor engaged in sharp talk with Weymouth and his wife, and the couple were heard during their stay at Lake Springs as stated in direct testimony.

This declaration came from Paul Valentine, a friend of Valentine and his bride, and his wife accepted at Lake Springs as stated in direct testimony.

"They were Chinese silk robes," said Valentine, "and Valentine's wife were white, not purple."</p
